Summary

I believe the best products don’t just meet requirements—they solve real problems, create value, and enhance user experiences. With a background spanning product management, sales, customer success, and quality assurance, I bring a holistic, end-to-end perspective to product development. I’ve worked across industries like fintech, SaaS, and digital banking, leading teams through strategy, execution, and market adoption.

Some of my key areas of expertise include:

- Product Strategy & Roadmaps – Driving alignment between business goals, customer needs, and technology.
- Data-Driven Decision Making – Leveraging analytics, automation, and customer insights to optimize growth.
- Digital Transformation – Implementing modern technologies to streamline operations and improve user experience.
- Pricing & Revenue Optimization – Developing strategic pricing models that drive profitability and adoption.
- AI & Automation – Integrating machine learning, fraud prevention, and workflow automation to enhance efficiency.

I thrive in environments where innovation, speed, and execution come together. Whether it’s building a new feature, refining a pricing model, or launching a customer feedback loop, I’m passionate about delivering tangible results.
